

Which bounds hold their level

Each row is a bound in one setting. The bar runs from its best cell to its worst and the dot is the worst; at or left of the line the bound holds. The approximate bounds' worst cells sit at 0.5 to 1.2 times the level, within about two Monte Carlo standard errors of it.

- exact at every sample size
- approximate, holds where tested
- does not hold

